DECODEUR: comparable data on probation

DECODEUR is the acronym. It stands for: Developing a Methodology to Collect Data on Community Sanctions and Measures and Attrition Rates in Europe. The title seems to sum it all up. The CEP newsletter nevertheless had nine questions for project manager Markku Heiskanen. "We have to make a questionnaire on probation that is applicable to all countries. So the process of compiling it needs a lot of attention."

CEP President presents the host of the 2013 Directors-General meeting

Some time ago CEP reported on the Directors-General in probation meeting that took place in Dublin, Ireland. The conference resulted in a Final Declaration, which is an outline for the CEP agenda in the coming two years, defining the main themes. CEP President Marc Cerón i Riera is happy to announce the location of the next DG meeting. And there is enough to do before 2013.

Colombia and Chile at Electronic Monitoring Conference in Évora: two different perspectives

Even though CEP usually reports on developments in the European probation sector, the 7th conference on electronic monitoring (EM) in Évora, Portugal, last 5-7 May gave plenty of reason to broaden the scope. The conference was attended by several non-European parties, who found their attendance useful. This edition of the EM conference was the first to consciously look outside Europe, which resulted in the exchange of knowledge and experience.

Recap: STARR final conference

Delegates from 22 countries, 28 presentations and a conference that started at the ground floor and ended at the top of the 19-stories building. These are just a few data from the final event of the European funded project Strengthening Transnational Approaches to Reducing Re-offending (STARR), held from 8th - 10th June in Sofia, Bulgaria. "It was a very rich conference", summarizes Steve Pitts, leader of strategy for the STARR Project. "Bringing together the learning of the project in Sofia did more than produce answers to the key questions which were asked at the beginning of the project: we also achieved some other unexpected, yet highly valuable outcomes."
