R2COM offers this training programme specially designed for NGOs and CSOs, aiming to strengthen their engagement in the critical mission of preventing and countering violent extremism (P/CVE)

We have identified the needs of NGOs and CSOs professionals working with individuals post-released from prison

Expect a course with:

- Practical and transferable learning methods
- Tailor-made content
- High quality and variety of resources

It will take you around 6-8 hours to complete this course!

In this course you will:

-  Learn fundamental concepts and understand key differences between radicalisation and extremism
-  Critically examine the role of prisons as potential hubs for radicalisation and explore effective mitigation strategies
-  Identify vulnerabilities, challenges and opportunities in the post-release setting for individuals affected by radicalisation
-  Appraise the significance of communities in the reintegration process and their role in countering violent extremism
-  Explore the dynamics of multi-agency cooperation and the potential impact of NGOs and CSOs in P/CVE
-  Learn about the best interventive practices in preventing and countering extremism
